Potatoes

Potatoes originally come from South America and were eaten by the Incas in Peru as far back as 8000 BC. When Spanish conquistadors conquered Peru in 1536, they brought potatoes back to Europe. The word 'potato' comes from the Spanish word 'patata'.

Potatoes became a major food crop throughout Europe, but nowhere more so than in Ireland.

The Great Famine (often called the Potato Famine) was caused by blight, a type of fungus that destroyed the potato crop. The blight thrived in the wet Irish weather and spread throughout the land, rotting potato plants into soft, black, foul-smelling mush.

The Irish faced starvation, disease and death. The famine lasted from 1845 to 1849 and one million people died as a result. Up to two million emigrated to countries such as the USA and England, never to return. Many others were forced to seek refuge in workhouses.

Potatoes are no longer a staple food in Ireland but they are still hugely popular. This is because they are so versatile – they can be boiled, roasted, baked or mashed. They can be eaten as chips, as crisps, in soup or in a salad. No wonder we like our spuds!

The potato is very nutritious. It is rich in carbohydrates, making it a great energy-giver. There are many different varieties such as Rooster, Kerr's Pink, Queen, Record, Maris Piper and Golden Wonder. They can be white, yellow, brown, red, pink or even purple in colour. ■

PENNIES

TRICK

THE CHALLENGE

Put down 17 coins in the middle of the table. Tell your friend that the rules are as follows:

1. You each take turns to remove coins from the pile in the middle and you have to remove one, two or three coins when it is your turn.
2. The loser is the person who has to take out the last coin.
3. Have a practice go first and let them win. After that, start taking bets!

THE TRICK

Always ensure that your opponent goes first. The trick is to make sure that, between the two of you, exactly four coins are removed in each round. So if your opponent takes out three coins, you take out one. If they take out two, you take out two. If they take out one, you take out three. They will always be left with one at the end, so you will always win!

QUICK QUESTIONS

1. How many coins do you need to play this trick?
2. Do all of the coins need to be the same for the trick to work?
3. Do you think it would be possible to play this trick twice on your friend?
4. When playing this trick, would it be a good idea to toss to see who goes first?
5. Why is there always one coin left at the end?
